What we will cover

The FIDIC Green Book is typically used as a form of contract for relatively smaller engineering and building projects for which you may not really require the more comprehensive Red or Yellow Book. It is often used for works which are not complex or of shorter duration, or works which include or wholly comprise, contractor-designed civil engineering, building, mechanical and/or electrical works. We will discuss the fifteen clauses and practical use of the Green Book with practical examples/case studies.
